Consent

I hereby give my consent for me (or my child) to receive psychological services from the Center for Psychology and Counseling. I understand that I am free to terminate services at any time.

Confidentiality

I understand that the information I provide is confidential and, in general, will be released to others only by my written consent (or the written consent of the custodial parent in the case of a minor child). Mental health providers are mandated by law to report when a person is (1) an imminent danger to himself/herself or to others, (2) and instances of abuse. Courts, legal proceeding, insurance and billing services may also require information within the normal limits of standard practice. All of our providers are licensed in their respective areas of expertise and adhere to their professional code of ethics.

Any psychological testing that accompanies treatment at The Center for Psychology and Counseling is an additional fee not included with the diagnostic interview or the follow-up appointment to review the test results. These charges will be billed to your insurance, but may not be covered.

I understand it is my responsibility to pay any amount not covered by my insurance policy.

MINORS: The adult accompanying a minor is responsible for full payment. This is regardless of any divorce decrees (which is a contract between parents; not between you and your therapist). If the ex-spouse is responsible for a minor's bill, the adult accompanying the minor is responsible for paying the therapist's fees and may collect reimbursement from the ex-spouse. Parents are responsible for sending co-payments for unaccompanied minors at each visit.

Signature Date

Legal Proceedings: If you become involved in legal proceedings that require your therapist's participation, you will be expected to pay for all professional time involved, including preparation and transportation costs, even if they are called to testify by another party. Payment for these services will be due in full prior to services being rendered. Insurance companies will not pay for involvement in a legal proceeding.

Signature Date

The Center for Psychology & Counseling requires at least a 24-hour notice for cancellation of appointments. If you do not keep an appointment, and do not cancel within the specified time, you deprive other patients of an appointment time. Therefore, cancellations with less than 24 hours notice or no shows will be billed a missed appointment fee of $65.00. Please understand that insurance companies do not pay for missed appointment fees. Thank you for your cooperation in helping us see you and others in a timely manner.

Signature Date

Please be advised that a $20 fee will be charged for all returned checks.
